Call for state look at BART

Bay Area Rapid Transit District Director Robert Allen has attacked his superiors in a letter to state Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger charging expense account reimbursements to board president Richard Clark and vice president Elmer Cooper are "patently fraudulent, meriting criminal prosecution and a demand for restitution."

A copy also was sent to Gov. Edmund G Brown, Jr.

Allen, the valley's representative to the BART board, claimed the two "grossly violated a public trust" when they submitted expense account vouchers totaling $23,620 for the first seven months of this year.

Clark and Cooper both have denied any wrongdoing.

Directors expense accounts were first revealed in a Times exclusive by Lesher newsman Justin Roberts.

Roberts said Clark's expenses totaled $6,343 and Cooper's $17,277 for seven months. Clark receives $8,000 in compensation plus expenses for his tenure as president, whild Cooper receives $6,000 plus expenses.

Cooper's bills included $4,000 for a trip to Nice, France, to attend a transit seminar plus side trips to Amsterdam, Copenhagen and Paris.

Both directors submitted bills for secretarial services and postage even though BART headquarters offers secretaries and franking privileges.

Expenses submitted and approved for reimbursement by Clark included more than $400 in meals taken "within the district" by Cooper in July.

Roberts also charged double billing by Cooper on some expenses.

Copies of Allen's letter and Roberts' articles were sent to the district attorneys of Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco Counties.

Alameda County District Attorney Lowell Jensen met with Allen Tuesday, but neither would comment on their talk.

Contra Costa County District Attorney William O'Malley said he, too, spoke with Jensen, but that he would not comment on their discussion.

The Contra Costa Grand Jury last week announced it was "looking into" expense accounts of the BART directors.

San Francisco District Attorney John J. Ferdon was unavailable for comment.

In his letter to Younger Allen concedes "many of their expenses are indeed legitimate." while "others are patently fraudulent, meriting criminal prosecution and a demand for retribution.

"The mere fact that Clark and Cooper mustered enough votes on the BART Board to become President and Vice-President respectively does not place them above the law." — by Ron Rodriguez

Pleasanton board OKs modified salary pact

PLEASANTON — Pleasanton Elementary School District trustees Wednesday night approved a modified salary schedule reflecting a total 6.7 per cent increase over the 1974-75 schedule plus longevity.

The percentage increase is the same for classified employes. The administrative and specialist salary schedule reflects a 7 per cent hike over 1974-75.

Highest salary brackets, exclusive of Superintendent Bruce Newlin's salary, and those of three assistant superintendents, are those of the director of research, Dr. David Carlisle, and the high school principals in the Amador district. The range is $23,290 to $28,309.

The director of research is paid for 12 months of service, the principals for 220 days.

Intermediate school principal Dale Hudson and Ron Alsup are in the $22,181 to $26,962 bracket.

Elementary school principals Gene Vargas, Anthony Huff, John Bristow and Jim Scott are in the $21,125 to $25,678 bracket.

The Pleasanton certificated salary schedule now ranges from an entry level salary (AB degree and no previous experience) of $9,612 to $19,565 (last step in the AB plus 75 units column).

In other business, Neil Sweeney, assistant superintendnent for instruction, recommended continuation of Outdoor Education with one person, to be hired within the district, organizing the program and being paid for that additional duty.

Teacher participation would continue to be voluntary. This point has been a concern of fifth grade teachers at Harvest Park and Walnut Grove.

Total costs of the program for 1976 is $6,657, including $300 for the director, $1,500 for substitute teachers and $900 for a naturalist.

Escapees' fashions put them back in Santa Rita

PLEASANTON — Two escaped inmates from the Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center were caught by an alert off-duty Sheriff's officer late Tuesday night, a spokesman said yesterday.

Sheriff's Deputy Don Henning was driving down San Ramon Valley Blvd. on his way to Redding when he spotted two men dressed in garb similar to that worn by inmates. He slowed the car and recognized the inmates from descriptions broadcast earlier.

Henning placed the men under arrest and called for back-up units to transport them back to Santa Rita. They were identified as Frederick Eugene Gee, 30, of Oakland, and David Lee Pratt, 22, of Hayward.

A third escapee, Watson White, 22, of Oakland, was captured shortly after the break-out around 7 a.m. Tuesday.

The three inmates apparently escaped by scaling a fence surrounding the minimum security institution.

Mayor Kinney's plan

'Separate overcrossing' from redevelopment?'

PLEASANTON — Mayor Ed Kinney thinks that the proposed $2.5 million Las Positas Boulevard overcrossing at Interstate 680 should be dropped from the Pleasanton Redevelopment plan.

Instead of financing the overcrossing from the proposed redevelopment district's revenues, the city council should ask voters to approve a general obligation bond in the city election next March, Kinney told The Times earlier this week.

Kinney feels that if the electorate would approve sale of bonds in March, work could proceed sooner on the overcrossing. If voters approve formation of the redevelopment district, it will take a few years before the district has stfficient revenue to sell bonds for the overcrossing, said Kinney.

Kinney has not discussed his idea yet with other council members. City manager Bill Edgar told The Times he is not sure that financing the West Las Positas overcrossing with a general obligation bond would complete the project sooner than financing it through redevelopment.

"We don't design the overcrossing. That's done by the state and it will take some time no matter which financing method we use," said Edgar.

"It also depends on the Stoneridge regional shopping center. If that comes in three or four years, the timing of the overcrossing won't be any slower using redevelopment district revenues. But if the shopping center doesn't come here for 10 years, it's possible selling G.O. bonds would be faster," said Edgar.

The city council is expected to put the question of establishing the redevelopment district on the city election ballot next March. If a separate question on the overcrossing joined it, and voters approved of the separate financing, the projected cost of redevelopment capital improvement projects would drop from $4.5 million to approximately $2 million.

Costly errors to be repeated? ex Vice-mayor says they will

PLEASANTON — The city council has made some costly mistakes in the past and is about to make another one with redevelopment because council members have followed bad advice from the city staff, former vice-mayor Charlie Bubics has charged.

Bubics made his accusation in a letter to the city council dated last Monday.

He was answered by Mayor Ed Kinney, who told Bubics things are more complicated in Pleasanton today than they were 15 or 20 years ago when Bubics served on the city council.

Bubics wrote the council it should immediately dissolve the Pleasanton Redevelopment Authority. The city has misspent funds in the past and PRA may be one more chance to repeat those erring ways, said Bubics.

Among the civic "mistakes" alleged by Bubics were:

- Replacing dead trees on Valley Avenue with six trees costing a total of $2,000;
- "Improperly" staking new sycamore trees on Hopyard Road caused some to die in high winds;
- The city spent $400 to resod worn spots in parks when "$5 worth of grass seed would have done the same thing."
- The city park department sends out five or six crewmen to trim street trees and all of them work on one tree, a waste of manpower.
- The city has spent thousands of dollars on consultant fees for renovation of the Sunol Boulevard sewage treatment plant.
- "the city entered the mini-bus business (depriving) us of much-needed taxi service."

The city council is comprised of honest people, but they have not been aware of staff mistakes, alleged Bubics. Besides dissolving PRA immediately, Bubics recommended that the city "get rid of the people who have earned you disrespect and embarrassment", apparently a reference to various staff members whom Bubics sees as responsible for the errors.

"Hire a professional business consultant to set Pleasanton City Hall on its right track and keep us from becoming another New York," wrote the former vice-mayor, who worked as a nurseryman. "Get professional help in any field necessary to further any type of project. Do not rely on staff only."

Kinney responded that "times have changed and, whether we like it or not, we can't do things today exactly the way we did in 'the good old days'. We tried keeping the appearances of the 'good old days' when we replaced the dead trees with more expensive, larger trees.. the project failed and we replaced the trees with younger trees which are doing quite well."

The consultants' fees on the sewer plant were made necessary by requirements established by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Students hear JFK 'plot'

PLEASANTON — President John F. Kennedy was killed by more than one assassin and Lee Harvey Oswald probably was not one of them, J.C. Lewis told Robert Holland's Amador High School sociology classes yesterday.

Louis, an instructor at two experimental colleges in San Francisco, is a member of the Assassination Information Bureau which provides speakers taking the viewpoint that there was a conspiracy to kill Kennedy.

He showed classes the famous home movie made by Dallas dressmaker Irving Zapruder which showed Kennedy and Texas Governor John Connally reeling backward from the impact of the bullets which struck them.

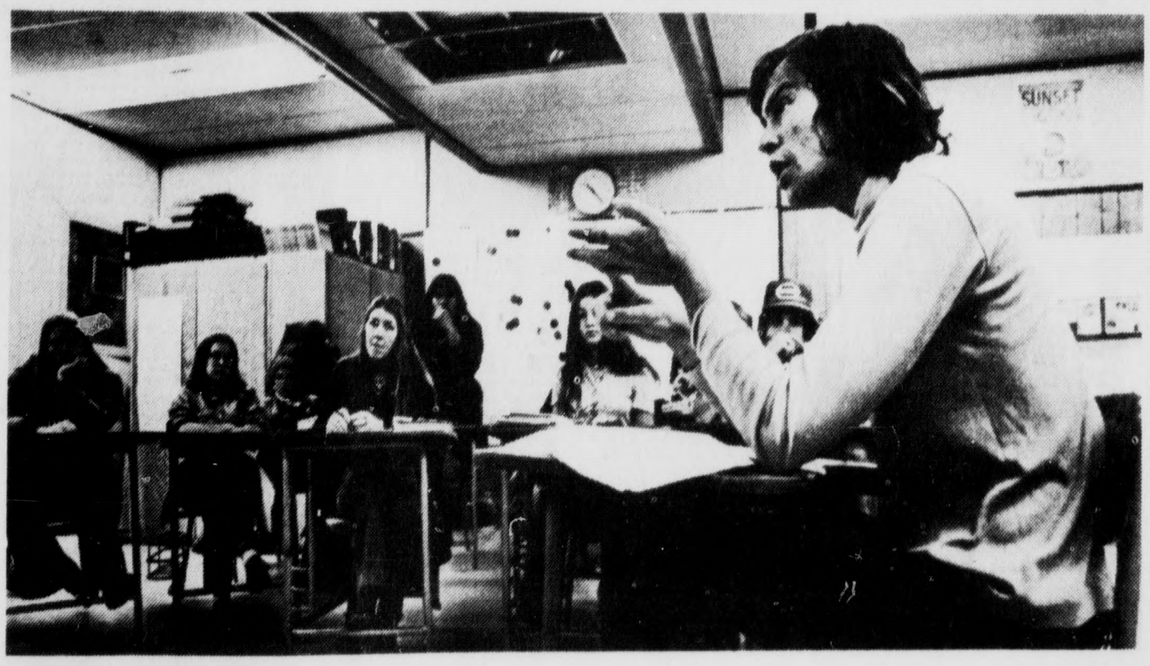

The backward motion of Kennedy's head is important, said Louis. Those who support the Warren Commission's conclusion that Kennedy was killed by a lone assassin say the bullets came from behind. But the bullets must have come from the front because Kennedy's head was thrust backward, said Louis.

Louis also showed slides and read quotes which support the theory that Oswald was a fall guy and the killing was done by others, perhaps two or three people.

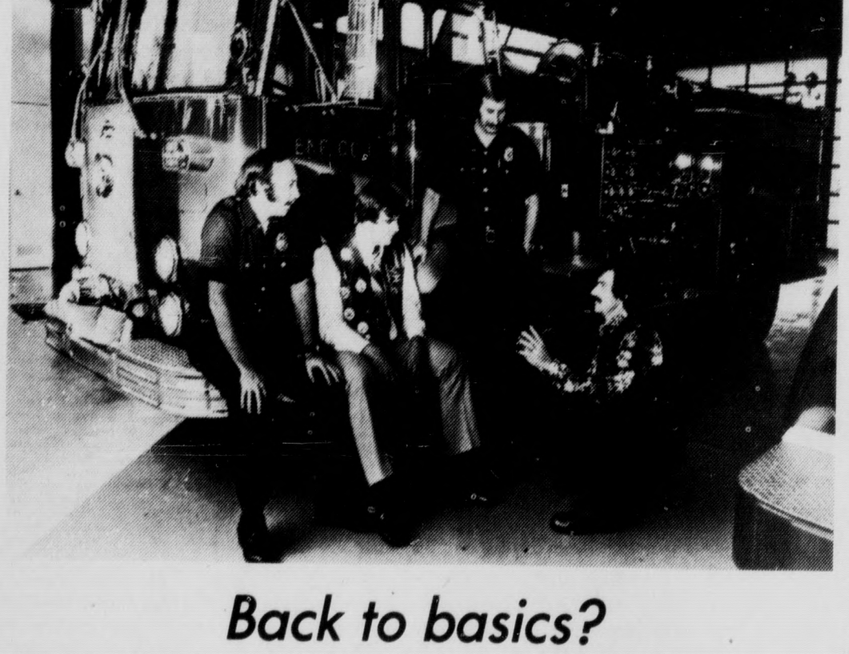

Among Louis's allegations:

- The Zapruder film shows a bystander twirling an umbrella at the precise moment the Presidential motorcade enters Dealy Plaza in Dallas. Since the sun is shining, why did the bystander twirl the umbrella? Was it a signal to hidden assassins to fire the shots?
- There seems to be "confusion" over the rifles used by Oswald. Original press reports said a Mauser rifle was used in the assassination and this was later changed to a Carcano which was found in Oswald's possession. Why the change?
- Life magazine ran a cover picture of someone it said was Oswald. He was holding a rifle with a scope on it, though the rifle supposedly found by the police had no scope. Also, the face on the Life cover seems not to be at the same angle with Oswald's body. Louis said that the picture was doctored with the face grafted on to someone else's body.
- Oswald was a member of the Fair Play For Cuba Committee, and supposedly he killed Kennedy for Kennedy's role in the Bay of Pigs invasion. But Oswald was the ONLY member of the New Orleans chapter of FPFC. And his office was in the same New Orleans building as a Cuban anti-Castro group whose members included two former CIA agents and the former head of the Chicago bureau of the FBI. Could it be that the anti-Castro group, knowing that Oswald once defected to the Russians and came back, set him up as the fall guy, asked Louis.

If there was a conspiracy to kill Kennedy, the public should learn it, said Louis. If there is a secret group which will eliminate a President because he won't do what they think he should, it is inimical to democracy, said Louis.

J.C. Louis, member of the Assassination Information Bureau, told Amador High School students yesterday why he thinks that Lee Harvey Oswald probably had nothing to do with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Oswald — killed Kennedy.

Eagles get extension from city

LIVERMORE — The planning commission has granted the Fraternal Order of Eagles Livermore Aerie 609 a five-year period in which to bring its public works improvements up to city standards.

Needed to be in conformance with the city's requirements are the fraternity's curbs, gutters, and sidewalk, and the installation of off-street parking and trees along the street.

The group had requested a conditional use permit from the planning commission to construct a storage room adjacent to its meeting hall at 527 N. Livermore Ave. and the public works improvements were included in the conditions of granting the permit.

A staff report on the request noted that the fraternal hall site had been developed generally over the years but lacks public works improvements along Linden Street as well as off-street parking. Parking lots have been required since 1960 on a ratio of one space per 50 square feet of assembly hall floor area.

In other business conducted at the commission meeting Tuesday night, planners:

- Granted variance requests in accordance with planning staff recommendations to permit the development of six single family dwelling units on property located at the southeast corner of Stanley Boulevard and Wall Street.
- Recommended denial of all three referrals from Alameda County: a request to approve as a building site a parcel reduced from 100 acres to 41,125 square feet at 788 Laughlin Road; an application to continue use of a non-conforming sign at Allied Metal Fabricators, 1815 Portola Avenue, and permission for Spence Brothers, Olympia Drywall, Darnell Electric and A.S.P. Construction at 5753 Southfront Road to retain three non-conforming roof mounted signs beyond their amortization period.

Livermore limits fund raisers to local citizens

LIVERMORE — Only local organizations will be allowed to solicit funds from residents under an ordinance the city council has directed the staff to prepare.

Although according to Don Miller such has been the policy of past city councils, a San Francisco based organization Monday night won its appeal to solicit funds in Livermore after its representatives convinced the council they had complied with all the city's requirements.

A permit was directed to be issued to the Polish Community Center as long as it continued to comply with local codes by a 4-1 vote, Miller dissenting. The organization plans to canvas the community Nov. 15 to Dec 15.

Following that vote, Miller made a motion that an ordinance be prepared restricting such permits to predominately local groups only. It was seconded by Helen Tirsell and passed 4-1, John Staley dissenting. ("I don't think this is the time to discuss it," he explained.)

The Polish Community Center's request to solicit funds in Livermore had been turned down by city Finance Director George Nolan on the basis the group did not serve the local community and that in 1974 several complaints had been received by the Livermore Police Department when the organization had been allowed to solicit door to door.

Nolan's contentions were refuted by Dalegor Suchecki, executive director of the Polish Community Center and Sylvia Renalski, secretary.

The purpose of the group, explained Suchecki, is to assist needy Polish immigrants to the Bay Area. The Center also sponsors educational programs, he said, and pointed to the language course offered at Hayward High School last year.

"We are appealing to the good will of the people of Livermore to assist these people," he explained.

Renalski noted the group had gone through all the proper procedures and met all the city's requirements. "We are standing on our legal rights," she said.

The secretary also stated there was a difference between inquiries to the police department and complaints. She suggested a check of the record would show people were asking about — rather than complaining about — the group's solictors.

Dublin church secretary stabbed while on duty

DUBLIN — A secretary of the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection was stabbed twice in the arm Tuesday as she gave a young man a tour of the church, a Sheriff's Dept. spokesman said yesterday.

Janet Krause, 45, of Pleasanton was attacked for no apparent reason by a knife-wielding youth who then fled the church. The church organist, Anne Falk, heard screams and ran to the secretary's aide.

Mrs. Krause was treated at Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek for two stab wounds in the upper left arm and released after several stitches were taken.

A 15-year-old boy was arrested shortly after the attack and later identified by Mrs. Krause as the assailant. He was booked for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon and is being held at juvenile hall in San Leandro.

Say bumper stickers

'Happiness is a basic school'

LIVERMORE — HAPPINESS IS A FUNDAMENTAL SCHOOL IN 1976 say the bumper stickers with the little red schoolhouses.

A hundred of them are just off the press of a local printer, and are already appearing on a few cars around town.

"Just something to lighten up the whole situation," explains LoRayne Cole, an active member of the Concerned Citizens for Fundamental Schools.

"So many negative things have been said about fundamental schools. We thought this would really be cute."

Hal Vyverberg thought up the slogan; Wilma Holbrook drew the schoolhouse; and Mrs. Cole suggested the red, white and blue color scheme.

Committee members paid for them out of their own pockets.

Despite the one - room schoolhouse sketched on the sticker, Mrs Cole hastens to point out, "We're not out to bolt the desks to the floor like they did years ago. We just want to help children realize their potential."

The bumper stickers aren't for sale, but will be given away to anyone interested in drumming up enthusiasm for the fundamental school planned to open next September. The fundamental school will be characterized by strict rules, letter grades (instead of teachers' comments), dress codes, self-contained classrooms and grouping of children by age.

Anyone interested in the fundamental movement is invited to hear Dr. Mike Kellner, principal of John Marshall fundamental school in Pasadena, who will meet the public Wednesday, Nov. 12, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Education Center, 685 Las Positas Blvd.

In contrast to fundamental schools, Personalized Education proponents had a meeting last night to explain THEIR version of education — completely individualized, geared to each child's interest and abilities, multi-age grouping, and much attention given to each child's self-esteem and confidence.

Members of the Committee for Personalized Education are working to block the fundamentalists from using an entire school for their program, urging instead that the fundamental technique be used in some classrooms in several schools.

Fundamental backers were criticized at the Tuesday night school board meeting by Dr. Gordon Smith of Irene Way for not visiting Pleasanton's Walnut Grove School, where the fundamental classes are operating successfully side-by-side with other programs.

"This seems a superior plan to what is presently being contemplated in Livermore," he observed. "There's still plenty of time. You could easily have two such schools, one on each side of town."

Valley bar association

Grandmother takes presidency

By JEAN MCKENNA

The woman with an insatiable curiosity who read law as a hobby, the grandmother who entered law school never intending to practice law — Dublin Attorney Kay Cushing — will convene the Nov. 14 meeting of the Livermore-Amador Bar Association as its first woman president. Until last spring she had been the only woman among 43 male members.

"Now there are two," she says with a twinkle in her eye.

Refusing to pin any special significance on the fact that she is the first woman so honored, Kay states her case simply: "The men respect me as a colleague, they know I'm a hard worker and they believe I can do the job."

An officer of the group for three successive years, Kay initiated the association's valley-wide referral service in 1973 to help residents who require legal assistance but do not know a lawyer. The service will make an appointment with an attorney, who then offers the first half hour of consultation free of charge. The referral service, which is not legal aid, charges a $15 administrative fee and may be reached at 829-2220.

Kay admits she never intended to set up practice, although her zest for working with people, her love of debate and her extroversion make her present career seem inevitable. She has been practicing law for only five years, first in Livermore and now in Dublin. With coaxing she tells the incredible story of how she became hooked on law.

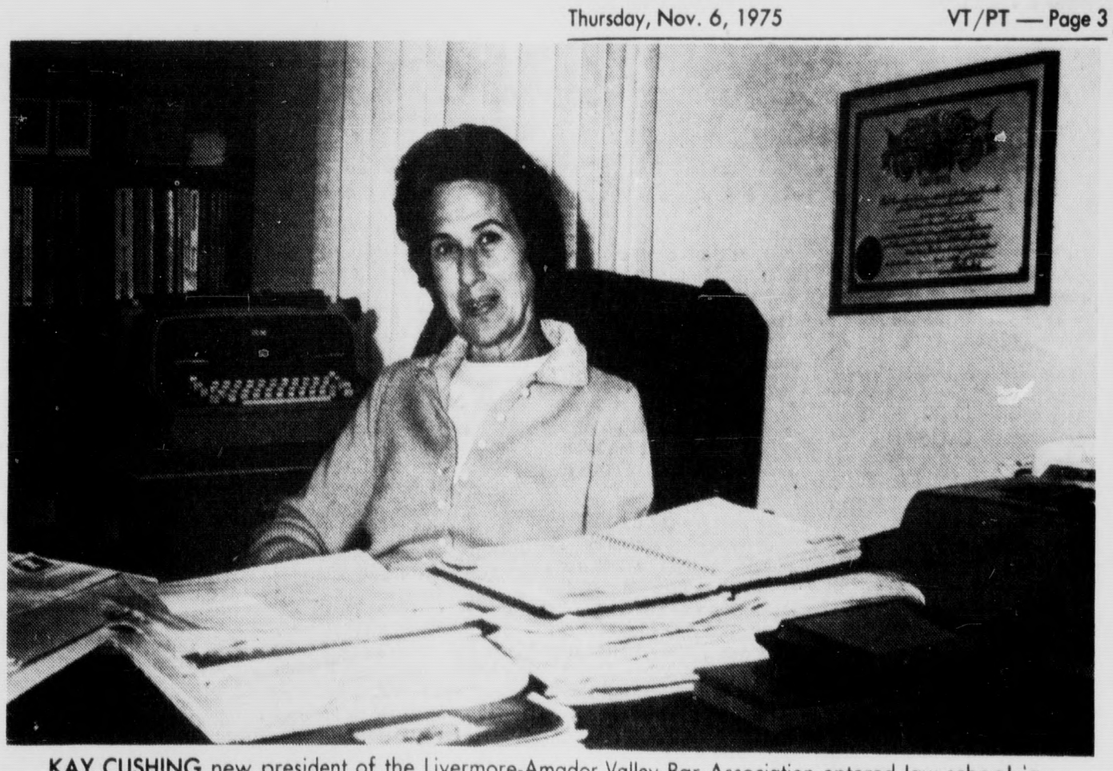

An avid reader, who loved to gather historical and archeological information on a country and then travel to the sites herself, she began reading law as a pastime to fill the evenings when her husband was occupied with business, her son and daughter grown. "It was less expensive than another trip." She found the mental challenge to her liking, and still finds law a challenge like none she has ever known.

"It's the only thing I've ever done that hasn't bored me in a year, a constant learning experience," she explains. "The law is forever changing, the reading requirements are monumental, and my practice is diversified." Kay handles corporate, real estate, personal injury, contract and domestic cases.

Kay has made learning an integral part of her life. She had no difficulty in passing a college equivalency examination before she entered law school at the University of the Pacific "one month after my second grandson was born."

Her husband, and her two children whom she claims as good friends, are proud of her doctor's degree in jurisprudence. "They understand me and they weren't surprised." Kay would even welcome the ultimate challenge of a judgeship some day.

Kay assumes the leadership of the Livermore - Amador Bar Association with a slate that includes Ron Hyde of Dublin as vice president, Earl Odell of Livermore as treasurer and Hugh Walker of Pleasanton as secretary.

KAY CUSHING new president of the Livermore-Amador Valley Bar Association entered law school 'a month after my second grandson was born.'

Vincent de Paul drive opens

The St Vincent de Paul Society will sponsor its annual fall drive for usable furniture, clothing, appliances and household goods through Dec. 5.

Las year the society in Alameda County provided employment for approximately 400 people in the operation of workshops and stores. The workers were handicapped for the most part.

The fall drive contributes toward the wages of these workers by providing large quantities of goods they can recondition in the workshops, sell in outlet stores, or in some instances give free to to the indigent.

If someone in the Livermore valley cannot pay for needed household goods or clothing, they may call the rectories of St. Michael's Catholic Church in Livermore at 447-1585, St. Charles Church in Livermore at 447-4549, St. Augustine's Catholic Church in Pleasanton at 846-4489, or St Raymond's Catholic Church in Dublin at 828-2460. A representative from the St. Vincent de Paul Society will be sent to the caller to verify the claim, and authorize a slip by which free articles may be obtained. The local council of each respective church will stand the cost of the articles.

In addition to providing jobs, the society gave direct aid in food, clothing, and furniture to 25,000 persons during the past year.

To call for pick-up service (free) dial 846-6300, or bring article donations to 807 Main St., Pleasanton.

'Americana '76' bandsmen have played in New York, Hawaii

They've been to New York City, Hawaii, Disneyland and even to Europe.

And also to Azusa, Cucamonga and Vacaville.

All told, they total over 2,000 in number and represent 28 high schools in northern and central California. A recitation of awards won would take a couple pages— Silver Creek High has captured more than 190 alone.

It's the "Americana '76' Band Review and Half-time Competition" sponsored by the Foothill High School Band Boosters and scheduled this Saturday in Pleasanton.

While Foothill High's Falcon bandsmen are the host band, there'll be representation from other valley schools as well— Granada, Dublin and Livermore.

The premiere event is the parade of bands along Santa Rita, Main and Rose to the County Fairgrounds. With Foothill leading the way, the bands will step-off at four-minute intervals starting at 11 a.m. from Amador Valley High School.

The reviewing stand is to be setup at Main and St.Johns. Roger McLain, a Pleasanton city councilman and National Guard officer, will be review officer.

Judges and civic dignataries will be present on the reviewing stand, the panel of judges to select the top bandsmen in a variety of categories.

Awards for the parade will be presented at ceremonies to be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Fairgrounds Amphitheatre. Should it rain, the ceremonies would be moved into the Young California Building.

In fact, the parade AND the evening performance will go on even if the skies do open up.

Preceeding the bands down Santa Rita and Main Saturday will be the Color Guard from the 185th Military Police Battalion of the National Guard headquartered at Pittsburg. Commanding officer is Lt. Col. Roger McLain, a Pleasanton councilman who will serve as review officer Lt. Peter Fear of the same unit will serve as inspection officer.

Don Macy, a Pleasanton resident, will be the announcer for the parade. The afternoon awards in the Amphitheatre will be directed by Don Paukert, another Foothill Band Booster.

Valleyites coming to the parade and evening performance are reminded that refreshments WILL be available with booths staffed by Foothill Band Booster members.

The evening event at Amador's Patterson Field will be opened by the Foothill High School band, which has won 12 major trophies in its brief two years of existence.

The band is directed by Robert Moorefield. Dan Bowe is drum major.

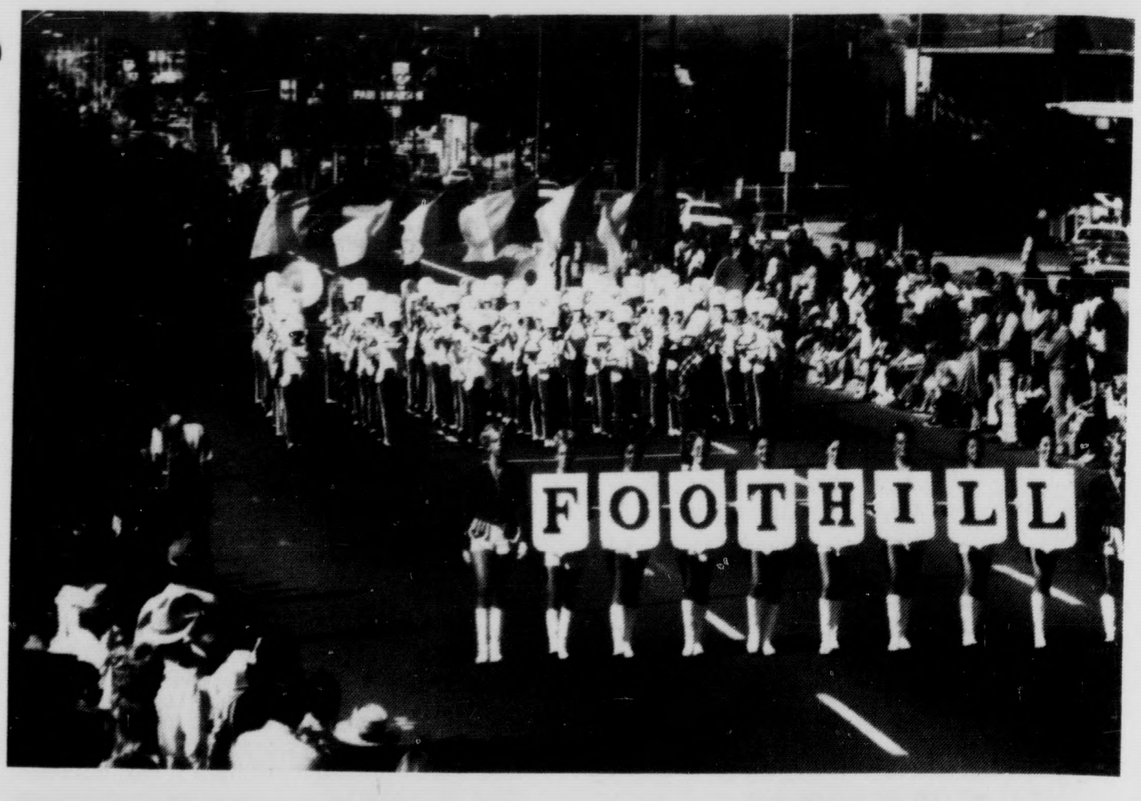

As promised yesterday, following are more highlights of some of the bands participating:

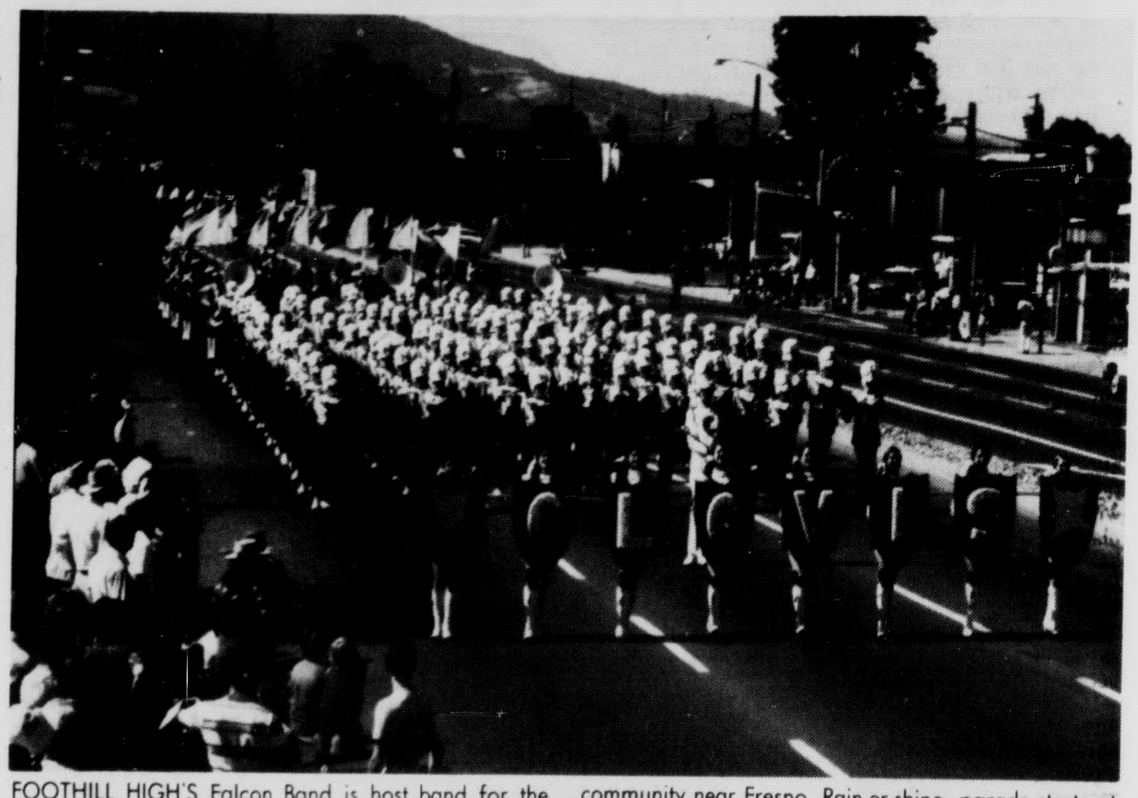

ARMIJO— Grand Sweepstakes band at Ukiah Invitational, Santa Cruz Invitational, Vacaville Fiesta Days, Cupertino Tournament of Bands- First place band at Woodland Christmas Band Review, All Western Band Review at Long Beach, Chinese New Year Parade in San Francisco.

CLOVIS— Sweepstakes Trophy at Cupertino Parade of Bands last year plus many first-place awards from band reviews throughout northern and central California. Band is know as the Golden Cougar Band and is formed from a student body numbering 3,000.

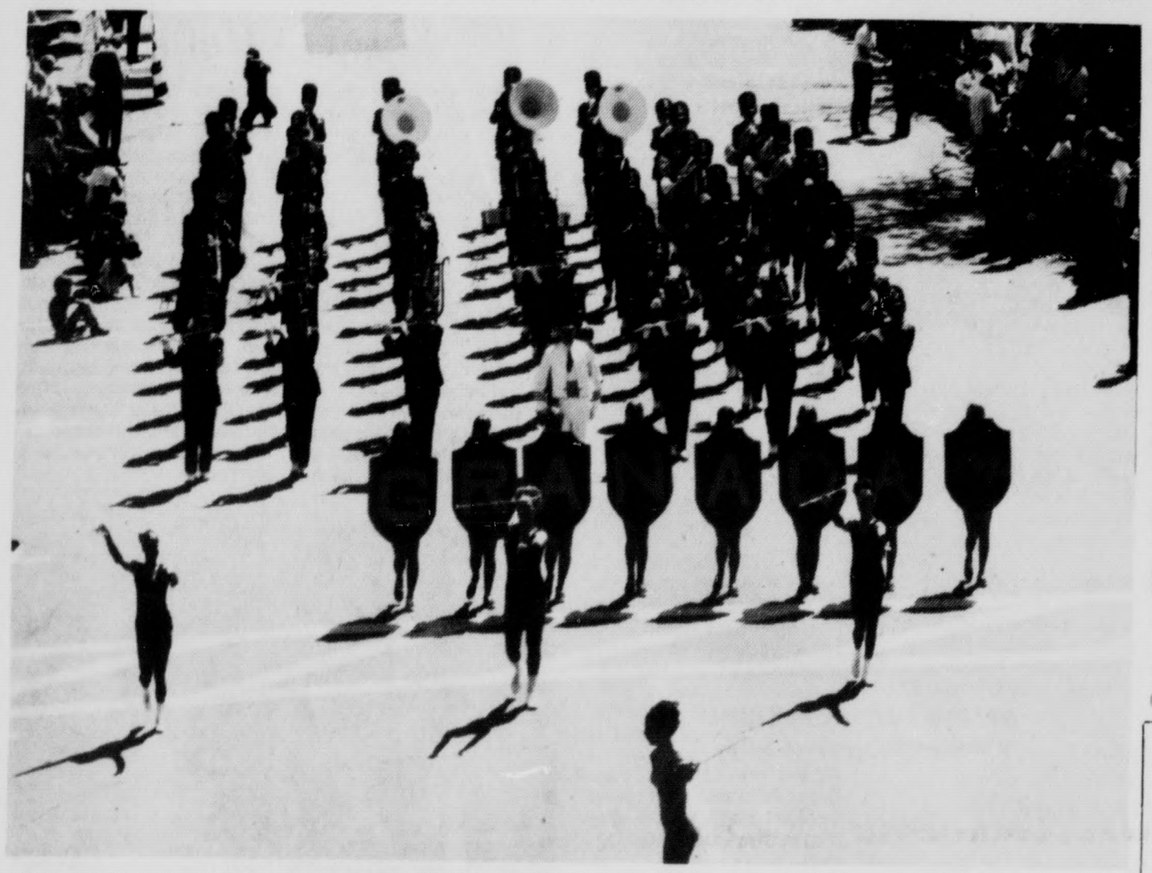

SUNNYVALE— First-place in Far Western Band Review at Long Beach in "A" Division. Sweepstakes Trophy at Santa Cruz in 1974. Seven-time winner of Santa Clara County Tourney of Bands. Appearances at Aloho Day Parade in Hawaii, Tournament of Roses King Orange Parade in Florida.

JOHN F. KENNEDY— First-place in Alameda County Veterans Day Parade in 1973, 74. Numerous superior ratings in CMEA band festivals. Band directed by Don Kruse, a Pleasanton residen

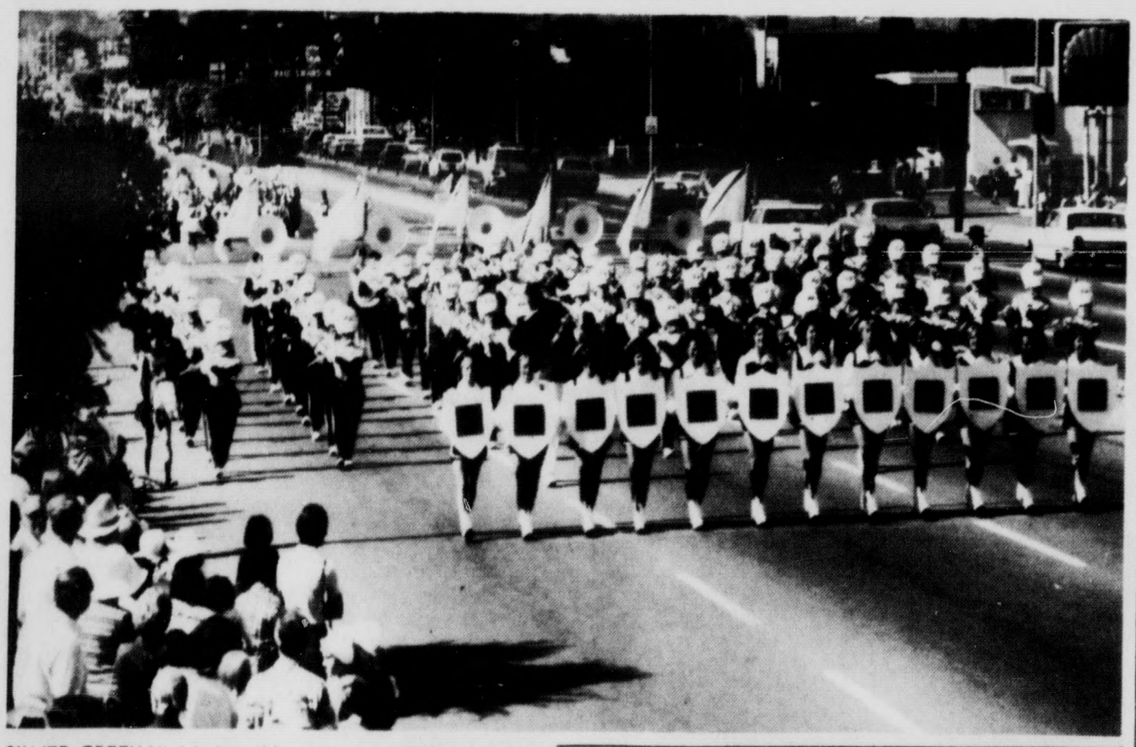

FOOTHILL HIGH'S Falcon Band is host band for the "Americana '76" band review scheduled this Saturday in Pleasanton. Also vying for honors will be the quick-stepping bandsmen from Clovis High School, a community near Fresno. Rain-or-shine, parade starts at 11 a.m. from Amador High. Evening program is at 6:30 p.m.

Granada High Matador Band all set to wow 'em come Saturday

SILVER CREEK High's band has won over 190 awards in field and street competition, having appeared in parades in New York City, Hawaii, Disneyland, Spokane Worlds Fair and on numerous locally- and nationally - televised programs.

Jaeger on idols

Mike Zampa

Football coach John Madden's name will be associated this weekend with a United States congressman, an investment wizzard, a top federal bureaucrat and the manager of the California Beef Council.

That looks like an I.Q. test problem where you select the profession that doesn't belong with the rest. But the boss of the Oakland Raiders will be in his element.

John Madden

Madden and those other high-status types will be honored Friday night as outstanding alumni of Cal Poly State University in San Luis Obispo John is representing the school of Human Development and Education, from which he graduated in 1959, later to earn a Masters Degree. Actually he'll be represented by his wife, Virginia, who will attend a dinner for the honorees, and later the homecoming football game as Cal Poly faces nationally ranked small college power Idaho State. Madden was an all-conference tackle for the Mustangs in the late 1950's, and also a catcher for the baseball team.

He is, perhaps, the school's best known personality. But among the current Mustangs, he is not the pinup boy.

"He's no big god," says Mike Jaeger, the third year linebacker from Granada High School. "Oh he's big. But he's no god."

Madden's stature looms largest with an earlier generation of Mustangs. The new campus hero, and he too is fading fast, is Don Milan, the quarterback who signed with Madden's Raiders in 1971. Milan was a taxi-squad player before Pete Rozelle made that facet of pro football inoperative last season. He was released by Oakland and picked up the Los Angeles Rams who eventually turned him out also.

"It ticked everybody off when he got cut," Jaeger says. "There was a sentimental attachment to Milan because he had just played here."

Milan, Madden, and even young Mike Jaeger would admit to sentimental attachments when Cal Poly football is mentioned San Luis Obispo is a special place to be a player. It is a sleepy tourist town nestled in the coastal mountains next to the Pacific Ocean. It is blanketed nightly by fog, surrounded by grazing land that feeds the cattle that fed the Hearst empire in days gone by.

Is is bordered by other sleepy coastal hamlets, like Morrow Bay and Shell Beach. Jaeger's protestation's to the contrary, the action is limited in San Luis. Players and other students congregate at boisterous night spots like The Graduate. But for the most part it is a sylvan region that lends itself more to reflection than revellry.

Except where Cal Poly football is concerned.

Then the populous turns fanatic. The folks cram into the tiny Mustang stadium, and follow the team on the road. In large numbers. They drag around this huge bell that looks like the Liberty Bell without the crack. Saturday night football is a weekend event.

"Everybody makes their schedule up around the game," Jaeger says. "They have parties before hand, and then the players have get togethers afterwards. A lof of them go to The Graduate or some other night club. But if you're sore like I am after a game, you just go home.

"The home games get a lot of support here," Mike says proudly. "We had 8,000 at our last game, and that included standing room and people crammed in bleachers behind the end zone. The smallest crowd we had was 7,200 here. It's really a pretty school," Jaeger says. "Everybody likes the area, and everybody likes football."

The Mustang homecoming has been saved for this weekend's Idaho State game, probably the toughest on Poly's schedule. They'll be fraternity bike and pie eating contests, and a parade through downtown San Luis Obispo Saturday morning. The students will consume beverages in large quantity, resting only to check the scoreboard

As for the game itself?

"Everybody knows what to expect," says Jaeger. "They've got everybody back from last year and it was the hardest game we played all season. They'll probably come out breathing fire."

People are beginning to expect such things from Jaeger. He has been Cal Poly's middle linebacker since the middle of the 1974 season. He calls the defensive signals (a difficult task since the Mustangs play a complex series of defensive sets) and may be the team captain next season. Jaeger plays at 6-3, 215. He has suffered a dislocated right shoulder, and a seperation of the left in his college career. Neither injury sparked even the hint of early retirement. "I guess I never thought about it," he says

The Mustangs are 4-3 this season, after dropping a 10-7 decision to U.C. Riverside last week. That cost Cal Poly a chance for the California Collegiate Athletic Association championship. Next season Jaeger and most of his defense will return to take another shot at the title.

After that, Jaeger will enter law school. "There's not much hope for pro football," he says. "I talked to a guy from here who got drafted, and it sounded ridiculous. Out of 150 guys who tried out, four or five make it I'm not going to try.

"I wasn't going to play football at all," Jaeger continues. I've decided now I really want to go to law school.

"My hardest decision right now is when to do homework. Between work, football and homework, football is first priority right now. Every game seems so important. Next quarter that will change, though."

Jaeger considered San Jose State after high school graduation, or possibly Cal State at Hayward. He says he was influenced, however, by a Cal State trainer familiar with Cal Poly football.

"He told me that they hit so hard at Poly, I'd go down there and get myself blown out. I thought, wow, I'd rather play with guys like that than against them. And we've got a reputation for hard hitting. Other teams always get geared up for us."

Coming out of high school, Jaeger had the ability to play major college football. There are times, he says, when he wonders if his decision for a small college atmosphere was correct. Those times are few, however.

"I've had success, and I've been happy here," he says "I've met people and I like the area."

And thus are sentimental attachments made.

Cowboys pick in EBAL meet

Depth and quality are the main keys to a successful high school cross-country program and that is why Livermore High School is favored to win the East Bay Athletic League meet crown at 3 p.m. today at the Lafeyette Reservoir.

The Cowboys won the league's dual meet crown with a perfect 7-0 record and boast the leagues' top runner to boot. The athlete in mention is none other than senior Boyd Tarin. Tarin is undefeated in league competiton this year. Tarin, the son of Cowboy coach Gil Tarin, will have his toughest competition from Dublin's Dan Harvey and Tim Galvin of San Ramon.

Coach Tarin is confident his team will do well in the league meet.

"We went undefeated in the league dual meet season," he said. "We have a bunch of guys who have done well this year. It's really hard to single anyone out." Tarin rates Amador and San Ramon as the Pokes' toughest challengers. He also feels the Cowboys will do well in the junior varsity and frosh-soph meets.

"We won the junior varsity crown and tied for first with Amador and San Ramon for the frosh-soph title."

San Ramon mentor Bob Vincent agrees with Tarin that Livermore should be the favorite for the league crown. Vincent, in his 25th year at San Ramon, rates his own team in the third spot.

"We don't have the outstanding runner we had last year in Roy Kissin," he said. "Galvin is a fine runner but our talent drops a lot after him. Depth is especially important in a league meet like this. You need five good runners to do well in the varsity division whereas in a dual meet three good runners will win the race for you."

Dublin's Robin Moss is a slight favorite in the frosh-soph division. Both coaches see a three-way battle for the frosh-soph crown among Livermore, Amador and San Ramon.

Granada is a slight favorite in the girls' division. However, Lisa Plaisted of California could run away with the individual honors.

Both Tarin and Vincent were optimistic about the EBAL's chances at the North Coast Regional meet next week. The EBAL schools will compete with teams from the Foothill Athletic League and the Diablo Valley Athletic League.

"Livermore has a chance of doing well at the regional meet," Vincent said. "Mt. Diablo and Pleasant Hill should probably be the favorities but Livermore could well be up there."

Tarin was more empathic. "Mt. Diablo should be the toughest competiton," he said. "However, I think we can lick them.

Glad Stars

Former Amador High School basketball stars Phil Hansen (left) and Bruce Cavestri are getting ready for Chabot College's basketball season. Hansen is a freshman at the Hayward campus and Cavestri is a sophomore transfer from the University of San Francisco. Hansen is a 6-foot-4½ guard and Cavestri is a 6-foot-7 forward.

Glad running back near league lead

Robert Bruce has vaulted up among the leaders in Golden Gate Conference rushing statistics at just the proper moment. The sophomore from Tennyson High School in Hayward has become a key to the offense in Chabot College's drive to a championship and a post-season bowl berth.

Bruce enjoyed his second straight 100-yard game last Saturday night, helping the Gladiators nip tough City College of San Francisco, 14-11. For one of the few times this season, Chabot's offense sputtered. But Bruce injected enough life to slap down the Rams, and keep the Gladiators one-half game in front of West Valley and Diablo Valley in the GGC race.

For his effort, 23 carries, 152 yards and one touchdown, Bruce was selected Northern California's junior college back of the week by the Northern California Football Writers. His resurgence has been vital for Chabot, which lost the services of Curt Bledsoe last week due to injury.

Bledsoe had been the leading Gladiator running back all season long, and will return in two weeks to face College of San Mateo. He has been surpassed by Bruce, however, in season statistics.

Bruce has gained 422 yards in eight games to rank fifth in the conference. San Jose's Ron Rowland is the leader with 808 yards.

Bledsoe is 10th with 377 yards in seven contests.

Wide receiver Tom Ferguson, battling for the state pass catching crown, has 46 for the year to easily lead the GGC. Second place Wally Yuhre of Diablo Valley has 32 receptions.

Quarterback Chuck Stevenson, at one time third on the Chabot depth chart, has climbed to the third spot in conference passing. The freshman from Marina High School has 56 completions in 123 attempts for 761 yards and four touchdowns.

Freshman Steve Duncan of Dublin High School is fourth in the conference scoring race with 39 points, including seven field goals in 12 attempts.

Chabot ranks third in the GGC for both team offense and team defense. The Gladiators are averaging 343.5 yards per game. The defense is yielding 244.6 per contest.

Boulware ranked 6th

Jim Boulware climbed to the sixth position among East Bay high school running backs last week after rushing for 254 yards in Dublin High's 21-20 EBAL loss to Livermore.

For the season the Gaels' junior fullback has picked up 837 yards. His average per game is 119.0, just three-tenths of a yard behind the East Bay's fifth leading rusher, Jim Lane of St. Mary's.

Robbie Kahuanui of Alameda High is the area's top runner with a 210.3 yards per game average. The Hornet senior is suffering from a badly damaged ankle, however, and will not play again this season.

Steve Jaeger of Granada High is 12th among East Bay rushers with a per game average of 89.1. He has picked up 624 yards in seven games.

Jaeger is also 12th in scoring statistics with 48 points. Teammate Vance Rushing has scored 46, and rests in 15th place.

Fleischer sparks Dons to easy win over Pokes

Katie Fleischer tied a league record in the 100-freestyle to pace the Amador girls' swimming team to a 94-50 victory over the Livermore Cowboys in an East Bay AthLetic League meet yesterday.

Fleischer's time was 55.8. She also won the 50-backstroke (31.7) and the 50-freestyle (25.3).

The only Livermore victory was in the 200-medley relay where the Cowboy team swam to a 2.11.4 win.

In other EBAL varsity action San Ramon dumped Dublin 90-54 and Granada rolled over California 99-20.

Zoe and Genai Burford led the San Ramon win. They each swam on a winning relay team and Genai added a first place in the 50-backstroke with a 32.3 clocking.

Granada won all of the first places in its meet with California.

In EBAL junior varsity action California crushed Granada 95-49, Amador edged Livermore 77½ to 63½ and San Ramon dunked Dublin 99-54.

Chabot booters 3rd in state rankings

Chabot College, two victories away from a Golden Gate Conference soccer championship, is the third ranked junior college team in the state this week.

The Gladiators trail only number two East Los Angeles (the team that shared the state title with Chabot last year) and Canada.

Friday in Los Altos, Chabot faces the state's fourth-ranked team, Foothill, in a GGC crucial.

The Gladiators can eliminate the Owls from contention with just a tie. They must win their final game against Diablo Valley College, however, to hold off the other title challenger, fifth rated West Valley.

Another GGC team, City College of San Francisco, is ranked seventh in the state.

Three reasons why the rich get richer.

The rich have it so much easier than us.
They can be happy driving Toyotas and Pintos. While we need the status of Buicks and Porsches.
They're perfectly relaxed in old tennis shoes and baggy sweaters. While we feel uncomfortable in anything less than double-knit slacks and expensive loafers.
Worst of all, they mix up delicious bloody marys, superb screwdrivers, and impeccable martinis with Royal Gate Vodka. While we would feel like social paupers if we didn't pay at least five bucks a bottle for some vodka with a "Russian" name.
It's really not fair. The rich see no shame in saving money.

Defense-minded Hornets top Bugs

The Green Hornes, sparked by the defense of Jamie O'Reilly, Bobbie Silva and Donny Davison held down the Lightning Bugs, 2-1 in Livermore Soccer Club under-8 play last weekend.

Bobby Gregson and Scott Mayo scored the goals.

Todd Murray scored for the Bugs.

The Gnats shut out the Tarantulas, 3-0, on Damon Bersie's six saves. David Badillo scored twice Scot Greiner had a goal. David Botell and Steve Warner provided the defense.

Fine defense by the Fireants' Cameron Elder, Ron Kapperman and Steve Geertgens was the difference in a 1-0 win over the Beetles. Eric Miller scored. The losers' Dolan Christopher had eight saves.

Yellowjacket defenders Mike Castleton and Mark Kenny blunted the Rogues, 2-0. Matt Murray and Jim Baker scored. Rogue Joey McThorn notched seven saves.

The Fireflies beat the Crickets, 1-0, on Tod Swaford's goal. Edward Haikila led the defense.

The Mites, behind the defense of Derek Stallard and Karl Eckert, blanked the Grasshoppers, 2-0. Kirk Ferguson and Matt Coady scored. John Schimmel played well.

The Bumblebees blanked the Hornets, 2-0, on goals by David Pellegrini and Scott Eaton. Defenders Michael Guddal and Jimmie Mathis were standouts.

The Fleas ticked the Skeeters, 2-0. Stephen Tanner and Dan Dent scored goals. Terry Horgan and Scott Pease played strong defense.

The Antlions and Super Bees fought to a 0-0 tie. Eric Shephard and Chad Bonham sparked the Lion defense. Todd Pattee, James Daack and Ricky Flores paced the Bees.

Mark Willis pumped three goals for the Scorpions in a 4-1 rout of the Locusts. Jason Haslam also scored. Billy Sutcliffe, John Gallagher and Gregg Pritchard keyed the defense. Frank Bray had the Locust goal.

The Dragonflies and Spiders tied, 1-1. Rodney Brown and Joey Hayek traded goals.

The Nematodes and Centipedes battled to a 0-0 tie. Darren Costa and Robert McMachin paced the Nematodes. Jason Budolz and Anthony Kunch sparked the Centipedes.

Under-10

The Nomads eased by the Chargers, 1-0. Cory Marver, Brennan Spies and Dave Garcia were defensive standouts. Hal Gordon scored.

The Falcons ripped the Gremlins, 3-0, on the defense of Mike Galles and Todd Thompson. Tim Lane, Sean Donohue and Mark Schlientz scored.

The Leopard defense of Greg Rothe and Erik Finger stopped the Cougars, 1-0. Tim Hatton scored.

Jimmy Ryan and Robbie Dalrymple scored two goals apiece in the Omegas' 6-2 win over the Lancers. Brian Mendoza and Glenn Shephard also scored. Brett Kolander and Butch Pino scored for the Lancers.

The Dusters blanked the Comets, 1-0. Mike Griffith scored. Lee Gemetti and Arland Amos led the defense.

Age-old ties bind sports and religion

NEW YORK — (NEA) — One recent Sunday morning Pete Rose politely interrupted his interviewer in the Cincinnati Reds locker room. "We'll have to stop for awhile," said Rose. "The team is going to have a meeting. But you can sit in if you'd like."

It seemed a rare opportunity for the reporter, to hear arcane baseball stratagems and secret insights. The players grew silent as a coach called for their attention, then introduced a tall man in civilian clothes and gleaming baldish head with glistening glasses. And the man conducted a prayer meeting, not a baseball meeting at all.

And it struck home how sports and religion seem to be growing closer. The evangelist Billy Graham uses a sports stadium for his "crusade." Faith healer Oral Roberts conducts a mass service on an off-night at the race track. We have seen pro football teams at pregame and post-game locker room prayer sessions on national television.

Athletes and coaches preach the gospel of "Winning with God" from lone ministries to joining groups such as the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Athletes in Action.

Sports religion appears a serious business, as opposed to, say, the comparatively light moment when a Brooklyn priest on a sweltering Sunday morning asked his sweating congregation, to say a prayer for Gil Hodges and the Dodgers in the World Series game this afternoon, "and then let's go home."

Yet sports and athletes through the ages have been closely identified with religion and dieties.

Theologian Harvey Cox believes that "contemporary man carries with him, like his appendix and his fingernails, vestiges of his tribal and pagan past."

"And," Dr. Cox told me, "there is a striking similarity between people today thronging to our immense stadia and the tribal people converging toward their totem. The teams often incarnate the spirit of the whole city or college. And that could be a good thing. It instills civic unity, just as the totem did in pagan societies.

"However the danger of intense interest in sports is that it can lead to idolatry. Instead of serving as a release from day-to-day cares, it becomes one's entire reason for being. And one gets cut off from the real world.

Bleier, Sipple — a common bond

Rocky Bleier is an American hero. So was Oliver Sipple.

Bleier and Sipple both saw combat as American servicemen in Vietnam, both were decorated for valor, both are receiving disability pay.

As civilians back in the states, both performed highly publicized heroic deeds.

Bleier is a starting running back on the Super Bowl-champion Pittsburgh Steelers — and as if this weren't mythic enough in the eyes of the public, Bleier was resolute enough to struggle back after his legs were shot up in Vietnam (doctors thought he might never walk again, let alone run).

Oliver Sipple is credited with saving the life of the President of the United States. Sipple became widely known on Sept. 22 when police said he knocked aside a gun aimed by Sara Jane Moore while in a crowd on a San Francisco street. Miss Moore is charged with attempting to assassinate President Ford.

Bleier is acclaimed, receiving the cheers of multitudes on Sundays, showered with a sympathetic press, the author (with Terry O'Neill) of a recently published autobiography, "Fighting Back."

The first time Sipple had a chance to speak with his mother by phone after his sudden recognition, she hung up on him. Recently, Sipple has filed a $15 million invasion of privacy suit against news media for reporting that he was a homosexual.

Sipple's suit charges that through news reports, "his brothers and his sisters learned for the first time of his homosexual orientation, and accordingly and consequentially abandoned the plaintiff."

In addition, the suit said he was exposed to contempt and ridicule, causing him great mental anguish, embarrassment and humiliation."

Bleier was in New York recently, the day it happened, of Sipple's suit.

"I feel lousy about this," said Bleier, from under his prominent mustache. He was wearing a colorful sport jacket on his thick, 5-10 frame. His eyes are candid behind his glasses, his speech is forthright.

He neither looks nor sounds like the stereotype football player.

"I think I know what it's like to be in Sipple's shoes — people are always saying to me, 'Jeez, you don't seem like a football player,'" said Bleier.

"And in a way football players and homosexuals have a common bond — we're both stereotyped. A football player is generally considered to be not real bright, not able to read terribly well, who walks around with his knuckles dragging on the ground.

"A gay is supposed to be a pervert, one who exposes himself in men's rooms, who is a threat to young boys. Well, this is far from the truth, according to my information.

"For example, I thought it was interesting what Leonard Matlovich had to say about it. He is the man in the Air Force who admitted being a homosexual, and fought being forced out. He said that he is simply attracted to the male sex — and is not after little kids or performing anti-social activities in men's rooms.

"He said he repressed his feelings for men for years. Now he is being open and honest about it. The Air Force discharged him because of 'moral reasons.'

"He said — and I think he has a good point — why should he not be treated as a human being, instead of as some stereotype. And, also, if the armed services were so morality conscious, why do they issue condoms to servicemen, birth controls to Wacs, and provide prostitutes for the troops?"

Bleier, the recipient of both the Purple Heart, awarded for being wounded in action, and the Bronze Star, awarded for heroic achievement, recalls lying in a Vietnam rice paddy, firing grenades at the enemy while helping four comrades and himself escape.

"Lying there, wounded, not knowing if I'd ever walk or live, I prayed. I had recently read a book about a guy in wartime who tells God, 'If you get me out of this mess, I'll become a priest and spread your word.'

"Now, I said, 'Well, I really can't promise You anything. I've got to be honest. I'm asking for Your help. And if I get out of this situation, I'll never complain again. That's the best I can do.' He must have taken me up on the deal."

Bleier believes that his outlook on life from then on changed.

He said he no longer has patience with people who condemn those outside the norm. "I mean, as long as someone isn't jeopardizing another person, why condemn him?" said Bleier.

"But too often people like to stereotype. It's comfortable. They don't have to think, don't have to be responsible for their actions.

"You know, I admire a guy who is true to himself. Even though Muhammad Ali took a different course of action from myself about the war, I commend him for taking a stand.

"Why should everyone be like us? When you think about it, people from Einstein to O.J. Simpson are outside the norm, too."

JUDGING OIL CATEGORY
Hugh Blunden, art instructor at Olive Hyde Gallery of the City of Fremont, and Ted Harpainter, expert in watercolor landscape, evaluated entries.

A colorful graphic by Marilyn Brown of Pleasanton entitled "Festival" and a modeled head of handmade paper entitled "Hanna" by Karen Jenkins of Livermore will be spotlighted as Best of Show at the Pleasanton Art League Fall Art Show opening this weekend.

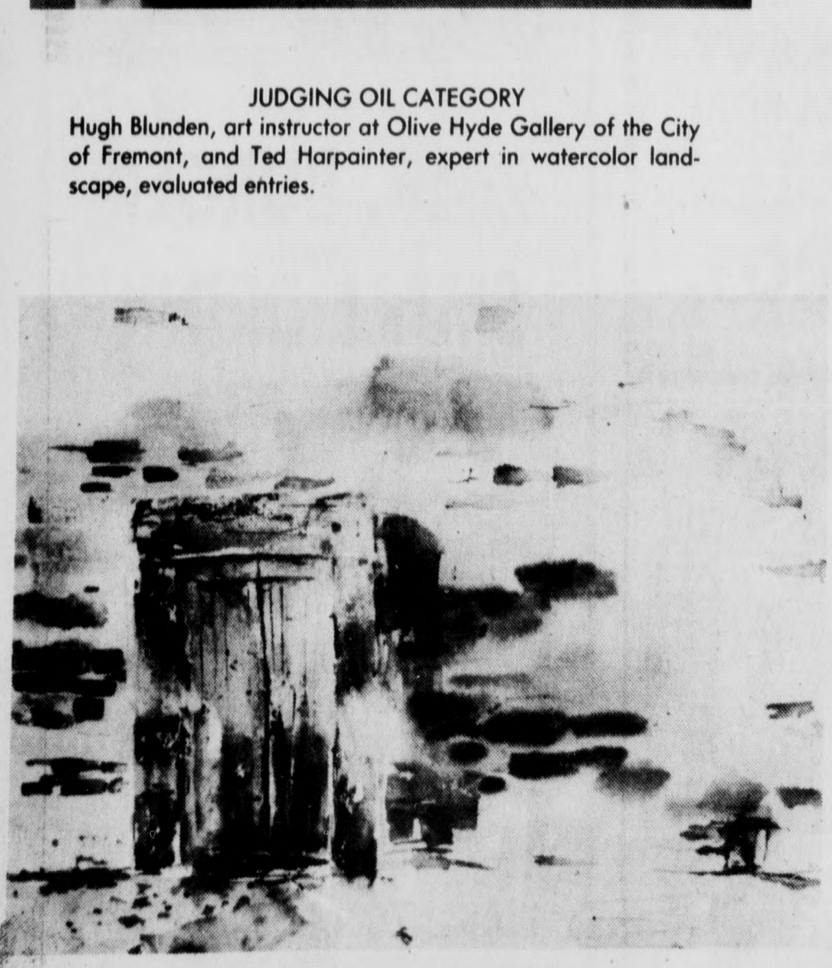

The 150 entries in the show will comprise the first major display at the new Pleasanton Cultural Arts Center. A champagne invitation-only preview of the show Friday from 8 to 10 p.m. will celebrate the official dedication of the building. The show will be open to the public at no charge Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Judges Ted Harpainter and Hugh Blunder of Fremont have awarded ribbons to the following entries:

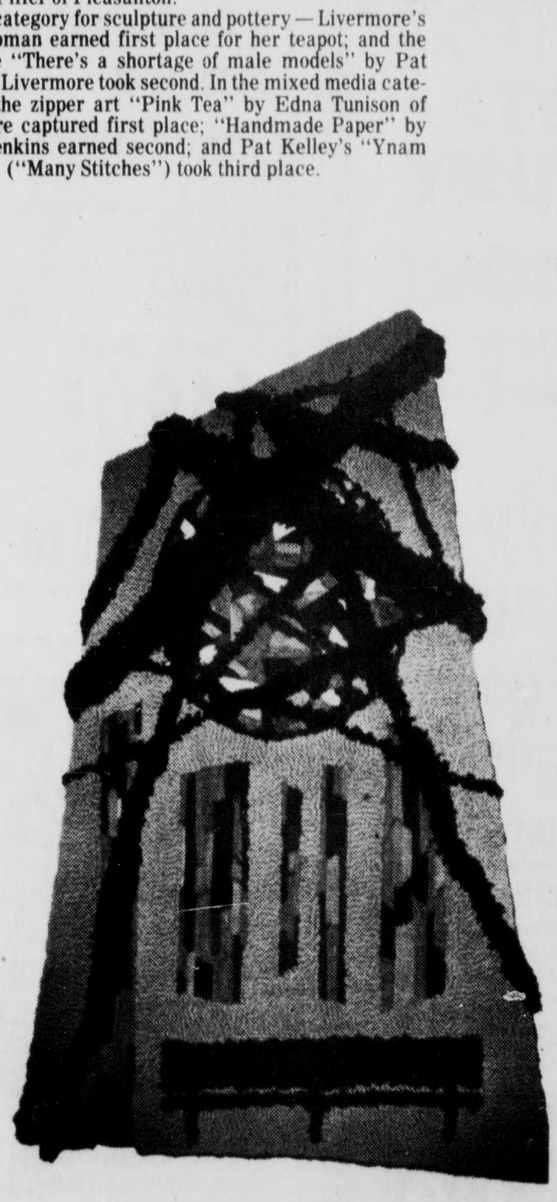

In the oil category — "Yesterday" by Olive Nayler of San Ramon captured first place; Marie Archer's "Nasturtiums" took second; "New Horizons" by Warren Wade of Pleasanton earned a third place; honorable mention was given to Margo Kirkewoog of Livermore. In the watercolor category — Livermore's Claire Haritani received first place recognition for "Winery Door;" Carol Waugh of Pleasanton took second for "Ancient Beauty;" Margo Kirkewoog's "Carmel Coast" earned third; and honorable mention was given to Wilma Stout and Muriel Doggett of Livermore.

In the category for pastels and graphics — "Nude" by Dotty Bartlett of Livermore earned top recognition; "Hills of S.F." by Terri Bunce of Pleasanton took second; and "Azalea" by Aida Lawton received third place. In the textile category — Cynthia Ostle's hair ornament in macrame earned first place; "Cathedral" by Jacqueline Larsen of Livermore was second; "Star Basket" by Gisele Stamos took third; and honorable mention was given to Arlayne Fiffer of Pleasanton.

In the category for sculpture and pottery — Livermore's Sue Koopman earned first place for her teapot; and the sculpture "There's a shortage of male models" by Pat Kelley of Livermore took second. In the mixed media category — the zipper art "Pink Tea" by Edna Tunison of Livermore captured first place; "Handmade Paper" by Karen Jenkins earned second; and Pat Kelley's "Ynam Sehetits" ("Many Stitches") took third place.

For Thursday, Nov. 6, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have a tendency today to blurt things out thoughtlessly. Guard against this, for someone could be badly hurt.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Usually you have your wits about you in the commercial arena. Today you could be hoodwinked because you seek something for nothing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's not a good day to make important decisions on family or financial matters. Your judgment is too clouded by emotion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Frustrating opposition will cause you to look for a scapegoat today. It will be far better in the long run for you to take the lumps.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're all too willing to pay for something you want done today, rather than do it yourself. You'll regret this. You could have done it better — and cheaper. If you want to stay on good terms with your budget today, watch two items closely — what you spend for the home and for entertainment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Normally you are tactful. Today you'll have to be careful to avoid dissension through what you say, or how you act in a crowd.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Avoid serious-type discussions with friends today. Keep it light. If you get that chip on your shoulder somebody will surely knock it off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be careful today. That small surplus you've accumulated may burn a hole in your pocket. You could blow the whole bundle quickly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Treat your mate with kid gloves today. Something you did recently triggered an unpleasant reaction. It won't take much to bring it to the surface.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't be too coy today. Little nuances you regard as frivolous gestures could be taken seriously, much to your dismay.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Avoid large gatherings today. You're in a mood where you want attention and if you're relegated to a lesser role you may be considerably upset.

Keep a small traveling bag packed this coming year. You won't make the long journeys you'd like to, but short trips will bring some exciting, memorable experiences.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Forty years ago Oswald Jacoby was one of a small group of experts who suggested that when your partner opened the bidding and your hand was worth just one bid, you should use it to raise your partner, if possible.

Today's hand from the spring charity game illustrates this. North's hand is worth just one bid. If he responds one spade he is going to have lots of future problems as South starts to take very strong action with his very fine hand.

If North just raises to two hearts, South will simply contract for the heart game.

A seventh son of a seventh son sitting West can open the ace of diamonds and continue the suit. East will ruff and if he leads back a club, the four-heart contract will be sunk without a trace. Against normal defense South will make four or five. Maybe, even six if a spade is opened and East makes the mistake of playing his king after an honor is played from dummy.

Ask the Jacobys

A South Carolinian wants to know what we bid in response to a one diamond opening with:
♠ K Q 7 6 ♥ A 2 ♦ J 4 ♣ K 9 8 5 4.

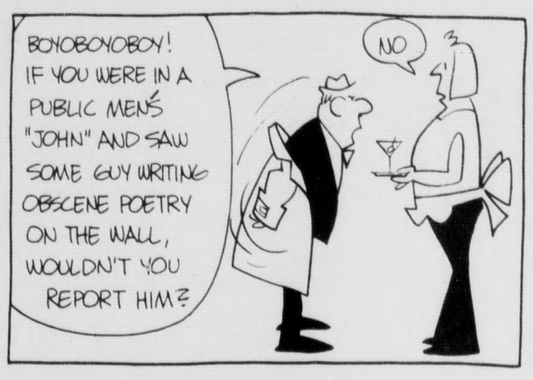

We respond two clubs. With a full opening bid opposite an opening bid we intend to get to game or higher and want to bid as naturally as possible. Hence, we start proceedings by bidding our longest suit.

SRV would be fiscally sound study reports

By CATHY TALLYN
Times Staff Writer

DANVILLE — Cityhood for the San Ramon Valley is feasible and desireable, a study attempts to demonstrate.

A report prepared by the Taxpayers for Local Control Through Incorporation (TLC) said a city of most of the San Ramon Valley would have money left over at the end of its first year of operation.

TLC leaders estimate revenues of $2,756,159 and expenses of $2,661,691, leaving a surplus of $94,468.

City income is based upon monies reimbursed it by the state and a property tax of 25 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

However, the property tax represents no increase in costs to most valley residents since it takes the place of the recreation service district tax.

Persons in the P-2 police service area in Danville and Alamo would receive a seven-cent tax decrease.

The only residents whose taxes would increase are those outside the R-7 recreation and park service area or the Valley Community Services District (VCSD).

The proposed city, which TLC leaders hope will be voted upon in the November 1976 election, takes in the land bounded by the Alameda County line on the south, Hillgrade Avenue and the Walnut Creek sphere of influence on the north and water and sewer extension lines on the east and west.

Communities included in these boundaries are Alamo, Diablo, Roundhill, Danville and San Ramon. The as yet undeveloped Blackhawk Ranch property is also included.

If the "Town of San Ramon" is approved by voters, the city would take over many services provided by the county, including planning, parks, public works and police.

County service areas will legally cease to exist if incorporation occurs. However, the functions performed by the districts will be rendered by the city "with no change in service level or cost," the report said.

According to the study, "(The) present population of almost 40,000 assures a financial base in excess of $2,700,000, an amount sufficient to maintain or improve the present level of service without imposition of any new taxes."

These service districts provide street lighting, street sweeping, parkway maintenance and some special police protection.

The area's commerical developments and light industry round out the city's assests.

Money from the state is based on the number of registered voters, 16,758. Based on that figure, the state Board of Equalization has estimated revenues for the first year of cityhood at $15,251 from liquor license fees; $138,320, cigarette tax; $443,417, motor vehicle-in-lieu fees; $437,618, gasoline taxes and $5,027, highway carriers uniform business license tax.

Estimates of monies from taxes raised locally are $763,779 from the local sales tax; $27,462, property transfer tax; $82,386, franchise fees; $94,724, fines and forfeitures; $9,000, planning and zoning fees, and $492,000, property tax.

Federal revenue sharing money is pegged at $180,692 the first year.

The cost of general administration for the city is estimated at $141,800 the first year. That includes salaries of a city manager, finance officer, administrative secretary-clerk and support staff ($76,250 total) and operating expenses of $65,500.

City council expenses are estimated at $1,000.

Legal services costs are put at $24,000 — $18,000 for a retainer and $6,000 for litigation.

The costs for a planning and zoning department for the first year are estimated at $89,000.

That comes to $74,750 for a planning director, assistant planner and support staff and $15,000 for operating expenses.

Total first-year public work expenses are put at $975,750.

That includes the cost of hiring an engineer, junior civil engineer and support staff— a total of $78,000.

Road maintenance and capitol improvement expenses are estimated at $880,000 and operating expenses at $17,000.

Police service costs are put at $936,891.

It includes 18 patrol-traffic officers at $33,767 a year ($607,806 total); four sergeant investigators at $34,408 a year (137,632 total); one sergeant (patrol supervisor), $34,408; five patrol vehicles at $20,209 a year ($101,045 total); one lieutenant, $37,500, and one substation, $18,500.

The city would assume the parks and recreation function now provided by the R-7 county service area in most of Alamo, Danville and parts of San Ramon.
